

ARIZONA FAIR WILL BE HUGE

Decision of Commissioners is to Exceed Previous Years; Enthusiastic Meeting at Phoenix on Monday.

PHOENIX, Aug. 13.—Arizona will have a fair next November and no referendum will be invoked against the law giving the commission sole authority to issue concessions for amusements within five miles of the grounds during fair week.

This announcement was made today after a conference between fair commissioners Hugh Campbell and J. J. Keegan, Secretary C. B. Wood, A. R. Gatter, Sidney Osborn and Jim Graves. Gatter, Graves and Osborn are the committee from the Elks' lodge which secured from the city council permission to conduct a street carnival in Phoenix during the week of the 1913 fair. Later the legislature at the request of the commission passed a law giving the commission exclusive power to grant amusement concessions within five miles of the fair grounds, not only during the week of the state's big show, but for two days previous and two days subsequent thereto.

It was against this law, which rendered their concession invalid that the Elks decided to invoke the referendum. Petitions were placed in circulation last week.

Today the committee in whose hands the matter had been left by the lodge appeared before the commissioners and announced that the petitions would be withdrawn immediately. The Elks do not wish to go into any controversy with the commissioners or engage the people of Phoenix in such a dispute. Their only object in securing the concession was to improve the character of attractions and they have every confidence that the commissioners will themselves do all that is possible to bring better midway shows here for the fair week.

Another important announcement made to the commission was that this year the Southern Pacific and Arizona Eastern will publish a rate of one fare for the round trip to Phoenix from any point on their lines. Better service will be given at Maricopa than last year. A number of extra coaches will be kept at Maricopa all the time for use when they are needed. Last November there were extra coaches but they were kept in Phoenix and sent to Maricopa only when actually required.

Commissioners Campbell and Keegan both state that the fair will far eclipse anything ever before seen in Arizona. They have been considering a number of routine matters brought to their attention.

Commissioner J. R. Henderson was expected to attend but has not arrived. He will probably come in on the 14:30 train this afternoon.

Mrs. Walter Pomeroy.

That feminine beauty is not a matter of cold cream, cosmetics or athletics is the opinion of Mrs. Walter Pomeroy of Los Angeles, who has been chosen to represent the state of California in the world's beauty contest to be held in September in Brussels, Belgium.

"In my opinion, the beautiful woman is not the one who may have the most perfect features," says Mrs. Pomeroy. "Even physical beauty depends ultimately upon beautiful spiritual thoughts."

BOLIN GOING AFTER A FAKE INSPECTOR

PHOENIX, Aug. 13.—No steps have been taken toward the prosecution of A. H. Parker, the Mesa mine promoter who is accused of representing himself to be state mine inspector. Mine Inspector G. H. Bolin is waiting to find some one who bought stock from Parker on the strength of his representation.

Unless Parker did sell stock on his claim to be state mine inspector there is no legal charge that can be placed against him. Several persons have written Bolin that Parker told them he was the inspector but they did not buy stock in the company he was promoting.

Bolin is hot under the collar and declares that he will prosecute Parker if there is a chance to do so.

S. P. TRUNK LINE MAY REACH GLOBE

GLOBE, Aug. 13.—A party of railroad engineers has been at work for the last month trying to determine upon the best route through the mountains for a line from Kelvin to the Globe district. This was learned from a reliable source last night in connection with a report that the Southern Pacific is preparing to make the long contemplated change in its line, whether or not the federal government will allow it to have a right of way through the Box Canyon, near San Carlos.

From the fact that the engineers have been at work between Globe and Kelvin it is believed that the alternative considered by the railroad for use in the event that the Box Canyon is not opened to it is the construction of a connecting line between the Arizona Eastern branch at Kelvin and the Globe branch near Cutter.

If this plan is carried through to completion the city of Globe would be only about seven miles off the main line of the Southern Pacific. This would result in great benefit to this city both in transportation facilities and the reduction of freight rates.

Hope has not been entirely abandoned by the railroad that the government will disband the Box canyon dam project and allow a right of way for the main line over that route.

The work which has been under way since last February on the San Carlos dam site was suspended the first of July it being stated that the appropriations for this work had run out. A new appropriation for the continuation of the preliminary work has been passed, but it was learned this week that Engineer Jones, who is superintending the project, has received no orders to go ahead.

Montana Woman's Case.

Burns, Mont.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me of awful backache which I had suffered with for months. I was so weak I could hardly do my work and my head and eyes ached all the time. Your Compound helped me in many ways and is a great strengthener. I always recommend it to my friends and tell them what a grand medicine it is for women. You may use my name for the good of others."—Mrs. JOHN FRANCIS, Burns, Montana.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

pathfinder, are interred on Bill Williams mountain.

Captain Bill Williams was one of the famous frontiersmen of 65 years ago. He made many trips through the west, all heading from the Missouri river. On the last one, while with General Fremont's party, he either died or was ambushed and killed by Indians on the mountain to which his name was given.

According to Dillitt his grand-uncle left home because a poor girl to whom he was engaged refused to marry him, owing to the opposition of his wealthy relatives. He left for the frontier and never returned. Lydia Ann Williams, Dillitt's grandmother, was Captain Williams' favorite sister, and it was she who exacted from the young man the promise that he would locate the grave of the old scout.

RADIO STATION NEAR SAN DIEGO

The most powerful radio station on the North American continent, to cost more than $200,000, will be constructed by the United States navy department at Linda Vista, within a stone's throw of La Jolla. Despite the secrecy with which this information has been guarded by the members of the board sent to San Diego by the navy department to select the most suitable site for the station, the news that Linda Vista will be recommended by the board leaked out yesterday.

During his visit to San Diego, Secretary of the Navy Joseph Daniels said that the department would erect

YOUNGEST SLAYER IN CHICAGO ANNALS

Genaro Campone and gun he shot playmate with.

Five-year-old Genaro Campone, of Cicilian parentage, is the youngest murderer in the police annals of Chicago. He shot and killed a playmate, James Paulino, because the latter hit him in the head with a stone. The young murderer says he is glad he did it, and shows not the slightest remorse.

The gun he used was one which his father had loaded and not in readiness for shooting a troublesome neighbor.

the most powerful radio station projected for the Pacific coast on the ground selected by the board which convened for that purpose. The prolonged presence in San Diego of Lieutenant Edwin H. Dodd, Civil Engineer Carl Carlson and Wireless Expert Hanscombe meant but one thing, that these men, familiar through long experience with radio communications, knew that so where on the Pacific coast could more ideal climate conditions be found than in the vicinity of San Diego.

Stable, the base of all radio operators, is but little in evidence in Southern California, even during the summer months. On the north coast, the air during the early part of the evening is fairly crackling with this phenomena, and at intervals of such intensity that it causes a general cessation of work, especially in long distance communications when the incoming signals are weak.

Probably nowhere in the world are conditions more conducive to long distance radio work, night or day, than in San Diego or vicinity. With the powerful plant which the government will erect at Linda Vista, should the plans of the recommending board materialize, the station operators be able to get into communication with ships passing through the Panama Canal, plying the waterways of the Alaskan coast, or steaming out on the broad Pacific as far west as the 180th meridian.

The erection of the station at San Diego means much, for it will be through this powerful plant that the navy officials at Washington will direct the movements of warships scattered along the coastline of the Pacific, from Nome to Balboa, Panama.

THAT VACATION

The folders that the mail has brought. We've studied with a keen delight; We've sat about the parlor lamp And taken long trips every night. We've travelled o'er the summer sea And on the road to antracite. We have lolled 'round in deep content Upon Atlantic City's sand. We've journeyed with the bill rich To the resorts in Switzerland. If gentle breezes on the coast Of Puget Sound we have been fanned. Imaginary trips are great. For there is not a cent to pay; And when it comes to traveling, That seems to be our only way. When our vacation really comes, We'll just go fishing for a day.
